There in a corner she finds in the attic,
Veil of rose embroidered fabric,
Shades of burgundy threads of gold –
Swanlike assertive understated bold.

Ever honest as she is free –
Field of sunflowers far as eye can see,
Kind and helpful summer love,
Wrapped up with the stars above.

Seeing the world from unconventional angles,
God, Time and the Wild entangled –
Been to The Land Where Everyoneshares,
Now she's wanting to take you there.

Nurturing creation as humans may,
Being here in a whole 'nother way –
Turning the mirror upside down,
Saying, "Heaven must be near around."
