

E*

The endless gray that Wednesday morning,
Suddenly split open there was no warning,
And in the narrow crack of cloud –
The sun entered fields bowed.

Like her assertive pertinent questions,
Summer love without conditions,
Imagination expanding discoveries –
Time turned magic memories.

Seeking out uncharted regions,
Creative wonder the growing season –
Secretive clear confident thinking,
Going somewhere never blinking.

First come family sisters home,
Friends ensure never alone –
And if communication she would add,
Distinguish for us good from bad.