

come again

sometimes after night winds the apricot sun rises anew crossing silver fields still under winters spell climbing the bones of forgotten woods into a lavender sky where great black crows take wing if only we knew the language we might learn for certain the Story that led our ancestral Quarks to choose sharing how the Long Chain Polymers discovered happiness in giving where the Prokaryotes found the courage to sacrifice why love

Evolution turns on the ability to respond listen / answer / Self-reflect the Greater Good Hold a Child's hand.
Help Another.
Care for the Garden.

when it's cold beyond imagination water shatters / cells freeze you get ice and could think that spring will never come the planetary mind paradise a fantasy

Earth moves, day grows slowly the World comes from shadow unfolds the waited hymn clarifying the goals of our intelligence with what we permit ourselves to think / say / do we create the Human Spirit
