

love's madness

when in the madness love brings with its never been like this before symmetry breaking cosmic force paradigms of risk and story work ending the insanity of impossible you can know it's true sometimes it does come down to either / or here at the crossroads in a time still bound with yesterday's narrative chains struggling with our first efforts at democracy upper class people not yet freely dispersing their wealth not yet using their privilege to save the World we can wish what's happening weren't hold to the explanations that brought us here continue on with what we know is wrong drive right over the edge let the children deal with the chaos or transition to something not tried before
