

Narrative Fields

We're Storytellers.

Calling. Responding. Questioning. Learning. Becoming.

Living out meanings and values delivered and retained by Narratives.

We might envision this reality by imagining a Dimension
a Field where Narratives reside.

Every narrative, story, explanation, discourse a swirling neon thread.

Narratives we take more seriously — most often activate, re-iterate, practice...

Form well defined tracks. Produce basins of attraction.

We gravitate toward their explanations.

They blue-print the shape we give our World.

Complexity Theory tells us that even a small input into the Narrative Field,
if met with resonance and reiteration,
can cascade.

expose and displace failing Narratives;

lead to a Change in the overall pattern of the System.

We need to believe in ourselves enough,

trust One Another enough,

be in awe of Nature

enchanted by the arts and sciences enough,

to begin telling new Stories.