

permission

when clouds of water molecules mixed with particles of dust meet cold air they form crystals drawn by gravity / taken by the wind flake by flake
they pearl the landscape permission only winter gives vanilla drifts / creamy hills spellbind in moonlight shadows from darkened woods stir garden memories beneath the melted stardust permission only dream can give outside frosted windows the snowy wake of whitewashed sins in guise of limousines and hunger power / corruption / canalized media democracy put on sale / politics a game all things our Self-as-separate narratives permit no mountain high / river ever kept us long from each other stepping from good intentions / shining words into doing whatever is needed to reach together give Love another chance permission only you can give
