

the stars

only you can tell whether a correlation exists between a dimension of your Personality, facets of your Inner Space and the Solar System at your Birth whether the description of the Planetary moment of your Coming into Being resonates with something you know about yourself, family, friends, co-workers if how Earth might remember Your birth reflects on your unique and individual Personal Presence represents an element of your Identity given a Self-similar, Complex, Entangled Universe happening in more than four dimensions all of Matter with an Interior one might think it more likely than not that Neurological Life evolving in this particular galactic Nest for 3.5 Billion Years would reflect some relationship with that larger picture you have to judge for yourself the role the Stars play in Personality whether the Sun, the Moon, Venus, the Horizon... provide a gateway to your Referent being if the descriptions work the Stars convey Identity based on connection provide grounds for understanding who we are outside the Master Narrative composed of elements all share in common although expressed in our unique and individual way the Stars point to a new World waiting creation
