

if

if the Universe could speak with us how might we communicate would we need to meet half-way see things in a new light think with a new responsibility could what we hear, find, happen, our dreams, coincidence, the unexpected make a greater sense point to something larger bear Personal meaning what might the Universe have to say would moments remind us of literature, art, theatre, dance could it sound like music bear the feeling of its moral arc would it tell us how much we're loved would we need to become more open minded while remembering our Age of Reason lessons for our World to wake from Medieval sleep for us to understand Ourselves differently turn in time to loving Nature and One Another
