Saturday morning sidewalk café,
Next door a flower shop along the quai –
Chocolate croissant and a double espresso,
You like lingering, the weekend tempo.

Reminiscing, talking, how it could be,
Given perseverance and organicity –
Clarifying words, practical attitudes,
Garden Music, Summer moods.

Your heart likes roots, daydreams the road,
Unafraid of a heavy load –
Realistic, assertive, intellectually inclined,
Ties with the living forever bind.

The hard part comes to humanity's worth,
Create Utopia from what we've done to Earth –
By many accounts this must be Someday,
If you still Trust, Love will find a way.
