

Sean

Warm and gentle familial eyes,
Respectful of every shape and size,
Reverence the crawling ivy,
Referent scaling walls of ivory.

From forest greens and lakes of blue,
To spider web spun drops of dew –
Sees the tapestry's patient designs,
Painstaking details worried lines.

Solving the edge of horizons equations,
At ease with relative quantum relations –
Inviting perfection holding open the door,
Mending the tears preparing the floor.

Thou of lilies and carefulness whirled,
Monet painted wings unfurled –
Life's calling out for limitless kindness,
Another becoming's trying to find us.

